by God, Emperor Emperor So i took out all the monsters that were attacking. It's a relatively simple world map. When you enter the game, you choose from one of four classes: Fighter, Mage, Monk, and Thief. Each class has different strengths and weaknesses that will likely allow players to find some sort of balance for their characters. I'm going to be playing a Fighter. I think any class will work but Fighters will have the best abilities and less weaknesses. And as you can see here are different world type settings. So basic, normal, and hard. And at the bottom there are 3 buttons right now. First is the D-pad which you use to move and diagonal buttons to change weapon type and level of attack. On my left side I have the left analog stick and with that I control certain abilities. And finally up here are the buttons that I'm using currently. You can buy artifacts from vendors or buy the basic item and keep them or you can spend time to learn magic runes. Oh no, a group of monsters! I'll deal with them and to make this easier I turned on auto. And now I'm going to examine my map. There are some backgrounds and there's also a portal. I don't know what this symbol is. And I guess that's my character. And I'll move on to my inventory. I need to find armor. These guys are too big. I'm gonna change my inventory. I don't know what to equip. Let's see... I think my main weapon is in my inventory, I'm going to get it out. And this guy too! I'll use my thief trick to steal everything they have. Here's my inventory now. I'm going to equip an artifact too. And now I should be able to do some damage. I'm in the middle of a battle now. I'm weak! I can't use my own attacks! Yeah I can! I can use this. I'm in the middle of a battle. I should be able to do some damage now. I died. Oh no! I got
